

Camera Magazine

Camera magazine is Australia's leading publication for enthusiast-level photographers and for amateurs who want become more involved in their hobby. The magazine's informative and entertaining style is designed to make advanced techniques and the latest imaging technologies both easier to understand and to put into practice. The magazine's 'real world' approach to its editorial content helps amateur photographers get the most out of their equipment as well as achieving the satisfaction of mastering new skills. Our test reports are particularly valued for their independence, comprehensive coverage and attention to accuracy. Since 2010, Camera has been a member of the prestigious Technical Image Press Association (TIPA), a global group of photography magazines selected for their high standards of content, production and independence. Camera is the only Australian photography magazine to have been invited to join TIPA, and is closely involved in the judging of the highly-respected annual TIPA Awards for imaging product design.

Camera's Editor, Paul Burrows, has over 32 years of experience writing about photography, photographers, cameras and camera design, techniques, and imaging technologies. The magazine's editorial contributors are all acknowledged experts in their particular fields.

Published since 1979, Camera is dedicated to helping its readers obtain the maximum enjoyment from their photography by expanding their skills, techniques and vision.

Camera Magazine is published six times yearly and is distributed nationally.

Digital Edition

As well as being available in print from newsagencies around Australia and by subscription, Camera magazine is now also available in electronic format for multiple platforms including iPad, Android, PC and Mac, while additional exclusive content, including news, reviews and feature articles, is continually posted on Camera magazine's dynamic website, at www.avhub.com.au/camera and on its Facebook page.
